Government co-contribution will first be credited in subscriber's savings bank account and thereafter, this co-contribution would be transferred to the APY account by the bank. This Government co-contribution cannot be used for any other purpose by subscribers other than the contribution to APY. This implies that the Government co-contribution given for a year 't' would be utilised for the purposes of the contributions of the subscribers in the year 't+1', thereby, reducing the subscriber's share of the contribution in the year 't+1'. This shall be an automatic, back-end process of the bank.

6. How much pension will be received under APY?

Minimum guaranteed monthly pension of Rs 1,000/- or 2,000/- or 3,000/- or 4,000 or 5,000/- per month will be given from the age of 60 years onwards depending on the contributions by the subscribers.

7. What is the benefit in joining APY scheme?

The benefit of minimum pension under Atal Pension Yojana would be guaranteed by the Government in the sense that if the actual realised returns on the pension contributions are less than the assumed returns for minimum guaranteed pension, over the period of contribution, such shortfall shall be funded by the Government. On the other hand, if the actual returns on the pension contributions are higher than the assumed returns for minimum guaranteed pension, over the period of contribution, such excess shall be credited to the subscriber's account, resulting in enhanced scheme benefits to the subscribers. The Government would also co-contribute 50% of the total contribution or Rs. 1000 per annum, whichever is lower, to each eligible subscriber, who joins the scheme during the period 1st June, 2015 to 31st December, 2015 and who is not a beneficiary of any social security scheme and is not an income tax payer. The Government co-contribution will be given for 5 years from the Financial Year 2015-16 to 2019-20. At present, a subscriber under the National Pension System (NPS) is eligible to get tax benefit for the contribution, upto a ceiling, and even for the investment returns on such contributions. Further, the purchase price of the annuity on exit from NPS is also not taxed and only the pension income of the subscribers are considered to be part of normal income and taxed at the appropriate marginal rate of tax, applicable to the subscriber. It is proposed that a similar tax treatment may be given to the subscribers of APY. However, presently, a similar tax dispensation, on par with that available under NPS, is yet to be accorded to subscribers under APY.

8. How the contributions are invested in APY?

The contributions under APY are invested as per the investment guidelines prescribed by PFRDA for Central Government / State Government / NPS-Lite / Swavalamban Scheme / APY.

It is not mandatory to provide Aadhaar number for opening APY account. It is however desirable to provide Aadhar Number for proper identification of the subscriber.

The contributions can be made at monthly / quarterly / half yearly intervals through auto-debit facility from savings bank account of the subscriber.

The monthly / quarterly / half yearly contribution depends upon the intended / desired monthly pension and the age of subscriber at entry. The details may be referred to in Annex I.

14. What is the due date for contribution?

The contribution may be paid to APY through savings bank account on any date of the particular month, in case of monthly contributions / any day of the first month of the quarter, in case of quarterly contributions / any day of the first month of the half year, in case of half-yearly contributions.

15. What will happen if required or sufficient amount is not maintained in the savings bank account for contribution on the due date?

The subscribers should keep the required balance in their savings bank accounts on the stipulated due dates to avoid any overdue interest for delayed contributions. The monthly / quarterly / half-yearly contribution may be deposited on the first date of month / quarter / half year in the savings bank account. However, if there is inadequate balance in the saving bank account of the subscriber till the last date of the month / last date of the first month in a quarter / last day of the first month in a half year, it will be treated as a default and contribution will have to be paid in the subsequent month along with overdue interest for delayed contributions. Banks are required to collect Rs. 1 per month for contribution of every Rs. 100, or part thereof, for each delayed monthly contributions.

Overdue interest for delayed contribution for quarterly / half yearly mode of contribution shall be recovered accordingly. The overdue interest amount collected will remain as part of the pension corpus of the subscriber.

More than one monthly / quarterly / half yearly contribution can be recovered subject to availability of the funds. In all cases, the contribution is to be recovered along with the charges. This will be bank's internal process. The due amount will be recovered as and when funds are available in the account.

16. What will happen to APY account in case of continuous default?

Deduction would be made in the subscribers account for account maintenance charges and other related charges on a periodic basis. Once the account balance in the subscriber's account becomes zero due to deduction of account maintenance charges, fees and overdue interest, the account would be closed immediately. For those subscribers, who have availed Government co-contribution, the account would be treated as becoming zero when the subscriber corpus minus the Government co-contribution would be equal to the account maintenance charges, fees and overdue interest and hence the net corpus becomes zero. In this case, the Government co-contribution would be given back to the Government.

26. What will happen to existing subscribers in NPS-Lite / Swavalamban Yojana?

(A) Subscriber between the age group of 18 and 40:

The subscriber would be automatically migrated to APY with an option to opt out. The associated aggregator will facilitate those subscribers for completing the process of migration. The subscribers may also approach the nearest authorised bank branch for shifting their Swavalamban account into APY with PRAN details.

The benefit of co-contribution of the Government of India for those subscribers of Swavalamban Scheme who have migrated to APY would not exceed 5 years under both the Schemes. For example, if a Swavalamban beneficiary has received the benefit of Government co-contribution for 1 year, then the Government co-contribution to that subscriber under APY, after migration from the Swavalamban Scheme, would be available only for 4 years, and so on.

The existing Swavalamban beneficiary opting out from the proposed automatic migration to APY will be given Government co-contribution upto 2016-17, if he is eligible, and the NPS Swavalamban would continue till such people attained the age of exit under that scheme.

The accumulated corpus of existing Swavalamban subscriber between the age group of 18 and 40 years, who get migrated to APY will be kept under the same PRAN and remain as an additional wealth of the subscriber till the time of exit. This additional amount may be given to the subscriber as enhanced pension benefit or as lump-sum withdrawal, as the case may be. The contribution of such subscribers under APY, after migration from the Swavalamban Scheme to APY, would be as per the amount mentioned in the Annex –I, depending on the pension amount selected and the age of the subscriber.

(B) Subscriber above 40 years of age:

The subscribers under the Swavalamban Scheme, who are beyond the age of 40 and who do not wish to continue under the Scheme, may opt out by complete withdrawal of entire amount in lump sum, or may prefer to continue till the age of 60 years, to be eligible for annuities thereunder.
